Department Mission Statement and how it involves Community Policing:

SECTION 1

1) Give a brief summary of how the department has committed to the philosophy of community policing:

- Collaboration with partners (please include specific Sustained Partners):
- Problem Solving & innovation
- Proactive Measures

2) Problem Solving:

The following questions ask about problem solving work by you and your agency during the last several years.

Problem solving is a proactive, analytic process for systematically:

(Scanning) Identifying neighborhood problems through coordinated community/police assessments.

(Analysis) Collecting and analyzing information about the problems.

(Response) Developing and implementing responses with the potential for eliminating or reducing the problems.

(Assessment) Evaluating the responses to determine the effectiveness.

Problem solving goes beyond traditional crime responses to proactively address a multitude of problems that adversely affect quality of life such as traffic issues, noise complaints, nuisance calls, etc.

2.1) Please identify a specific community or neighborhood problem that your department addressed over the last few years.

2.2) Outline how you gathered information about the victims/citizens affected by a problem and the suspects/individuals contributing to the problem?

2.3) Explain how you used police or other data to analyze the problem. Please explain how you examined a comprehensive set of factors, such as the location, day of week, time of day, season and environmental factors (e.g., street lighting and landscape)?

2.4) Were you able to use police data such as calls for service, incident data or crash reports for example to document the problem?

2.5) Describe how you documented the problem using discussions or interviews with residents, business owners or other local stakeholders.

2.6) Describe any internal police partnerships that you used to address the issue such as patrol, detectives or school resource officers.

2.7) Describe any other public partnerships such as schools, public works, elder affairs offices that your partnered with to address the problem.

2.8) Identify any other community partners that assisted in developing solutions to the problem.

2.9) Describe any research you conducted to develop a solution to your problem such as using the Arizona State University Center for Problem-Oriented Policing <https://popcenter.asu.edu/> or the U.S. Department of Justice Crime Solutions website <https://crimesolutions.ojp.gov/>

2.10) What measures did you use to assess the effectiveness of your response?
Were you able to use data from your police systems or use some non-traditional measures to assess your results?
